Intel Science Talent Search to Name Top Winners in Washington, D.C. on March 10

Intel Chairman Craig Barrett to Announce Top Honors for America's Oldest, Most Prestigious Science Competition

- WHEN: Tuesday, March 10, 7–9:30 p.m. EDT
- Media are invited to attend the gala or conduct phone interviews with the winners (after 10 p.m.). RSVP for gala attendance to kara.gaffney@bm.com.
- WHERE: Andrew W. Mellon Auditorium
1301 Constitution Ave., NW
Washington, D.C.
- WHAT: The top 10 winners of the Intel Science Talent Search, a program of Society for Science & the Public (SSP), will be announced at the gala awards ceremony. The Finalists are competing for over half a million dollars in scholarships from the Intel Foundation, and the grand prize winner will take home $100,000. The Finalists will be available for interviews immediately after top honors are announced by Intel Chairman Craig Barrett.
- The awards gala concludes the 2009 season of the nation's oldest and most prestigious science competition. Over the past 67 years, the young innovators chosen to participate in the Science Talent Search have gone on to receive some of the world's most prestigious honors. For example, seven former Finalists have won the Nobel Prize while others have been awarded the Fields Medal, the National Medal of Science and MacArthur Foundation Fellowship.
- WHO: All 40 Intel Science Talent Search Finalists and Intel Chairman Craig Barrett
