Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 45 (c), (d), and (e) (Effective 12/1/07)

(c) Protecting a Person Subject to a Subpoena.

(1) Avoiding Undue Burden or Expense; Sanctions. A party or attorney responsible for issuing and serving a subpoena must take reasonable steps to avoid imposing undue burden or expense on a person subject to the subpoena. The issuing court must enforce this duty and impose an appropriate sanction — which may include lost earnings and reasonable attorney's fees — on a party or attorney who fails to comply.

(2) Command to Produce Materials or Permit Inspection.

(A) Appearance Not Required. A person commanded to produce documents, electronically stored information, or tangible things, or to permit the inspection of premises, need not appear in person at the place of production or inspection unless also commanded to appear for a deposition, hearing, or trial.

(B) Objections. A person commanded to produce documents or tangible things or to permit inspection may serve on the party or attorney designated in the subpoena a written objection to inspecting, copying, testing or sampling any or all of the materials or to inspecting the premises — or to producing electronically stored information in the form or forms requested. The objection must be served before the earlier of the time specified for compliance or 14 days after the subpoena is served. If an objection is made, the following rules apply:

(i) At any time, on notice to the commanded person, the serving party may move the issuing court for an order compelling production or inspection.

(ii) These acts may be required only as directed in the order, and the order must protect a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer from significant expense resulting from compliance.

(3) Quashing or Modifying a Subpoena.

(A) When Required. On timely motion, the issuing court must quash or modify a subpoena that:

(i) fails to allow a reasonable time to comply;

(ii) requires a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer to travel more than 100 miles from where that person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business in person — except that, subject to Rule 45(c)(3)(B)(iii), the person may be commanded to attend a trial by traveling from any such place within the state where the trial is held;

(iii) requires disclosure of privileged or other protected matter, if no exception or waiver applies; or

(iv) subjects a person to undue burden.

(B) When Permitted. To protect a person subject to or affected by a subpoena, the issuing court may, on motion, quash or modify the subpoena if it requires:

(i) disclosing a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information;

(ii) disclosing an unretained expert's opinion or information that does not describe specific occurrences in dispute and results from the expert's study that was not requested by a party; or

(iii) a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer to incur substantial expense to travel more than 100 miles to attend trial.

(C) Specifying Conditions as an Alternative. In the circumstances described in Rule 45(c)(3)(B), the court may, instead of quashing or modifying a subpoena, order appearance or production under specified conditions if the serving party:

(i) shows a substantial need for the testimony or material that cannot be otherwise met without undue hardship; and

(ii) ensures that the subpoenaed person will be reasonably compensated.

(d) Duties in Responding to a Subpoena.

(1) Producing Documents or Electronically Stored Information. These procedures apply to producing documents or electronically stored information:

(A) Documents. A person responding to a subpoena to produce documents must produce them as they are kept in the ordinary course of business or must organize and label them to correspond to the categories in the demand.

(B) Form for Producing Electronically Stored Information Not Specified. If a subpoena does not specify a form for producing electronically stored information, the person responding must produce it in a form or forms in which it is ordinarily maintained or in a reasonably usable form or forms.

(C) Electronically Stored Information Produced in Only One Form. The person responding need not produce the same electronically stored information in more than one form.

(D) Inaccessible Electronically Stored Information. The person responding need not provide discovery of electronically stored information from sources that the person identifies as not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. On motion to compel discovery or for a protective order, the person responding must show that the information is not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. If that showing is made, the court may nonetheless order discovery from such sources if the requesting party shows good cause, considering the limitations of Rule 26(b)(2)(C). The court may specify conditions for the discovery.

(2) Claiming Privilege or Protection.

(A) Information Withheld. A person withholding subpoenaed information under a claim that it is privileged or subject to protection as trial-preparation material must:

(i) expressly make the claim; and

(ii) describe the nature of the withheld documents, communications, or tangible things in a manner that, without revealing information itself privileged or protected, will enable the parties to assess the claim.

(B) Information Produced. If information produced in response to a subpoena is subject to a claim of privilege or of protection as trial-preparation material, the person making the claim may notify any party that received the information of the claim and the basis for it. After being notified, a party must promptly return, sequester, or destroy the specified information and any copies it has; must not use or disclose the information until the claim is resolved; must take reasonable steps to retrieve the information if the party disclosed it before being notified; and may promptly present the information to the court under seal for a determination of the claim. The person who produced the information must preserve the information until the claim is resolved.

(e) Contempt. The issuing court may hold in contempt a person who, having been served, fails without adequate excuse to obey the subpoena. A nonparty's failure to obey must be excused if the subpoena purports to require the nonparty to attend or produce at a place outside the limits of Rule 45(c)(3)(A)(ii).

Schedule A

DEFINITIONS AND INSTRUCTIONS

1. The term "MICROPROCESSOR" means general purpose microprocessors using the x86 instruction set (e.g., Sempron, Athlon, Turion, Opteron, Celeron, Pentium, Core, Core Duo, and Xeon).

9. The relevant time period for these topics is January 1, 2000 to the present.

DEPOSITION TOPICS

1. The recordation, compilation, storage, and production of the data produced by TECH DATA in connection with this litigation, including the system in which that data was stored.

2. The manner in which the data produced by TECH DATA is maintained and prepared in the ordinary course of business.

3. The data that TECH DATA produced in this litigation, including the definitions for all data fields, abbreviations or codes reflected as values in any data fields, the provision of formulas for all calculated fields, product identification, and the interaction among the datasets produced.

4. Explanation of the net acquisition cost to TECH DATA of a product, net of all rebates, discounts, and credits at the time of purchase and after.

5. How to determine the net price paid by the customer for a given sale (net of all rebates, discounts, and credits at the time of the sale and after).

6. How to identify: a) sales of custom-to-order ("CTO") and built-to-order ("BTO") or other custom computer system products; b) customer type (in the SALES DATA).

7. Identification in the SALES DATA of internal sales or transfers, product returns, credits and debits.

8. Explanation of vendor and consumer rebates:
   a. How are they captured in the SALES DATA and identification of those adjustments in the data;
   b. How to identify rebates related to MICROPROCESSORS or COMPUTER SYSTEMS;
   c. How to potentially link consumer rebates to their original transactions in the SALES DATA;
   d. Types of consumer rebates offered to customers in the ordinary course of business;
   e. Whether TECH DATA offers any post-transactional rebates (e.g., Mail-In Rebates) and whether data on such rebates exist;
   f. Types of vendor rebates TECH DATA generally receives;
   g. How the REBATE DATA and its variables relate to other data sets and other variables;
   h. How to interpret the values of different variables in the REBATE DATA.

9. Explanation of TECH DATA's policy on sales at a loss (e.g., sales where the unit price is less than the unit cost).

10. Explanation for incidents in the SALES DATA where multiple costs are associated with the same product on the same day.

11. Explanation for identifying 1) open-box or refurbished products; 2) key characteristics of processors sold in computer systems (i.e., brand and model, speed, cache, and fsb).

12. Explanation of use for the LOOKUP TABLES, including: a) interpretation of different variables and their definitions; b) how variables relate to other variables in the LOOKUP TABLES and the other data sets.
