Errata and Contingencies

Operating System	Failing Test	Expiry Date	ID Number	Type	Error Description windows 7	Win7: UAA Test - Win7 (System)	06/01/2015	513	Erratum	Issue Description: UAA Test requires the Traffic Priority bit to be read/write - however there are two specs that apply, and they conflict. One says the bit must be read/write, the other says it must be read-only. Contact has been made with the author of both specs (Intel) but until this point is clarified we cannot fail submissions containing this test failure. windows 7	Win7:Class Driver AC3 Test - Win7 (System)	06/30/2025	1256	Erratum	Issue Description: Run AC3 test on a system with the Microsoft HD Audio class driver installed. Expected results: All AC3 kernel streaming Data ranges should advertise MinimumBitsPerSample = 16 and MaximumBitsPerSample = 16. Actual results: HD Audio class driver sometimes advertises MaximumBitsPerSample = 24. windows 7	Win7: Class Drive Fidelity Test - Win7 (System, Manual)	7/31/2015	598	Erratum	Issue Description: The European Union requires the headphone output level to be ≤ 150 mVrms for headphone jacks. There's a note in WLP requirement AUDIO-0006 that states, in the presence of regional regulations, the output level requirement for headphones is dropped from ≥ 1000 mVrms to ≥ 120 mVrms. This provides freedom for manufacturers to meet both the EU ≤ 150 mVrms @ 32 Ohms and the WLP ≥ 120 mVrms @ 32 Ohms requirements. The Fidelity Test tests headphones at 300 Ohm load, though. Without knowledge of the output impedance at the jack, the test cannot extrapolate what the output level at 32 Ohms would have been from the output level at 300 Ohms. The test assumes that the output level at 32 Ohms will be less than the output level at 300 Ohms, though. So any measurement ≥ 120 mVrms at 300 Ohms "could be" a passing result, depending on the output impedance.
